

An aerial photograph of a port terminal. A large red arrow originates from the bottom left and points towards a specific area in the center-right of the image. This area is highlighted with a yellow-green overlay and contains several white shipping containers. The rest of the terminal is filled with various types of shipping containers (red, blue, orange, white) and semi-trailers. In the background, a large cruise ship is docked at a pier. The terminal is surrounded by roads and some greenery.
